

Chaplaincy Chat

Don't Be Alone

The pain you feel when you're all alone a feeling to me, that's very well known The thoughts in your mind, are not very clear as you feel on your cheek, that burning tear

It eats you up, and tears you apart as you try to heal your broken heart We all have this feeling deep down inside although for some, they have denied

The painful truth of what they feel and by themselves, they cannot heal So ask the Lord for his healing hand and walk you through His awesome plan, To the end, where you can heal and the feeling of contentment you can feel He turns away no one, who has the Trust So open your heart, to him you must