Good from A to Z

Rachel and Jim owned a commercial building, half of which Jim used for his dental practice. For fifteen years, they had encountered no difficulty in renting out the other half. Then they lost their renter. They counted on the extra income to pay their bills. A real estate agent told them, "Forget about advertising for a while. Absolutely no one is renting."

To ease her financial worries, Rachel started swimming laps at her local YMCA pool. One day when she was feeling especially anxious, she decided to pray as she swam, using the alphabet to keep track of the numbers of laps. She focused on adjectives that described God, starting with the letter "A." By the time she had completed twenty-six laps, an hour had passed and her fears were gone. She knew God would provide.

A short time later, a physical therapist called to say she has seen the "For Rent" sign in the window and asked to see the office. It was exactly what she wanted, so she and her partner rented the space.

When you take your eyes off of your problems and focus on God and His incredible attributes, your worries will fade away. Remember, God's goodness stretches from A to Z!
